

My story about the big bird which cruises the upper reaches of the Narrows lake and which I called loosely a fish hawk drew a comment yesterday from Ed McCorkle.

Ed said the description sounded like that of an osprey. Ed quoted an authority, Archibald Rutledge, nature writer of Spartanburg S. C., who has studied the osprey all over the lowlands of the Carolinas.

I looked up "osprey" in Webster's Unabridged. Also known as fish hawk; a large hawk, dark brown above, white below. Where protected, the dictionary continued, the osprey likes to nest close to the habitations of men.

My friend on an osprey all right. Ed went on to say that it is sometimes known as the sea-eagle, a description that fits it like a glove.

But then Ed dropped all his book authorities and confessed to cold, hard facts: He himself had seen a pair of the birds over the GrassyG lake region. That cinched it. There's a regular parade over the skyway from Grassy lake to the Narrows — everything from egrets and water-turkeys to mallards and coots. So it wouldn't be anything unusual for an osprey to go along with the crowd.

I was jolted yesterday by the bland manner in which some of our government planners offend against common sense — as though you were to hear a grown man add up two and two and then have him tell you casually that the answer is five.

The nonsense which riled me appeared in a booklet, "Who Owns Our Rivers?" published by the Tennessee Valley Public Power association's information committee, which is further identified as being "composed only of the distributors of TVA power."

I am reading along with them when I come to this gem of illogic:

"The private monopolistic utilities," says the booklet, "claim that their customers are as much entitled to federally-generated power as are the customers of the non-profit public and co-operative utilities. The very real difference is, that, in the latter instance, the benefits of the power go directly to the consumer; without any individual or group levying a tribute."

No tribute?

Heavens above, all the people of the 48 states of America paid taxes to build that network of dams in the Tennessee valley — and now a handful of tax-exempt gentry, after levying a monumental tribute against all the rest of us, are saying that the electricity generated by those dams is exclusively theirs!

That's the most preposterous claim that was ever put down on paper in the history of this republic.

It would be laughable except for the grim humor of the people at this particular moment, bending over income tax returns to foot an $844-billion-dollar federal budget — knowing that even so they'll lack 14 1/2 billions of covering it in full.

Don't try to twist my piece into an attack on any and all co-operative electric distribution systems. I have a long record of fighting for rural electrification. I endorsed the basic setup for the original REA. And right here in Hope this newspaper was instrumental back in the 1930's in blasting the Hope city government until it finally extended the municipal plant's rural electric lines over a seven-mile radius.

But there are scheming people in America who care more about political power than they do about electrical power. Local co-ops building distribution lines and taking electricity where it was never taken before, are one thing; but these folks who let the federal government spend millions of dollars on a power dam and then claim its entire output — they are something else.

The federal government spent 18 million dollars building the Narrows dam at Murfreesboro, here in our own section, but the political cousins of the TVs from Tennessee have fixed it so that a municipal plant-town like Hope can't touch any of that electricity without surrendering its entire rate-fixing authority to the bureaucrats in Washington, 1,100 miles away.

"Who Owns Our Rivers?" The TVs from Tennessee ask. I'll tell you who owns 'em — everyone who paid a dime's tax to Uncle Sam. That's who owns 'em.

Stephens Co. to Handle City's Bonding Issue

In a session last night in which they broke their own rule, the Hope council instructed the W. R. Stephens Investment Co. of Little Rock to handle the city's proposed $350,000 bond issue for installation of a new generator at municipal water and light plant.

Three bonding companies were present last night. The bonds will cover a 30-year period with interest rate to be definitely fixed later, although the council has a guarantee interest will never exceed three per cent.

The group broke a time-limit rule on meetings. All sessions are supposed to end at 10 p. m. — last night's closed at 10:45.

No action was taken on a proposal by an advertising agency to place signs on downtown parking meters.

A proposal by a Texarkana firm to paint and clean the Paving Ground water tank was turned over to the water and light committee.

Two old street department graders will be traded in on a new one and all city employees will get Saturday afternoons off providing they have put in a 48 hour week.

The fogging machine will also be traded in on a new model.

Fire Chief Willis was instructed to send a man to a 3-day training school in Little Rock. Ray Yocom will attend the school.

The group voted to accept bids Continued on Page Two

Woman to Tell Part in Tanker Deals

Washington, March 5 (AP) — Mrs. Olga Konow, whose sleek and perfumed appearance normally would never associate her with the salty U. S. Merchant Marine, goes before Senate investigators today to tell of her role in surplus tanker deals.

The Senate investigations subcommittee called Mrs. Konow as a witness in its quest for evidence of possible influence peddling and tax evasion on huge profits reaped by buyers of war-surplus vessels.

Former Congressman Joseph E. Casey has sworn it was Mrs. Konow who provided a tip that led him and a group of associates to the law offices of corruption sleuth Newbold Morris in 1947. This in turn, he said, led to a $450,000 profit on $1,000 cash invested in a firm which bought three oil tankers.

The subcommittee placed at $1,267,200 the fees and profits collected by or still due to Casey and two companions for lining up a series of ship deals.

The group named the two others as Robert W. Dudley, a Washington lawyer, and Joseph W. Rosenbaum, whose share was received in the name of his Washington law firm.

To Manage Hope Legion Team

Raymond Robins

Fred Robertson, commander of the local American Legion post, announced today that Raymond Robins, commonly called Ozon, will manage the 1952 Hope Legionnaires.

Mr. Robins has had 25 years baseball experience having played sandlot, college and semi-pro. He attended Magnolia A.M. College and was outstanding in both baseball and basketball and was on several all-state teams. He has played for the Idaho, Okla. Indians, Dierks Lumber Co. and the Williams Lumber Co.

Administration Has Decided Against Carrying War to China in Event Peace Talks Collapse

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, March 5 (AP) — The Truman administration has decided against any move to carry the Korean War to China even if the peace talks collapse.

Officials said that is the present basic policy, but how it would be applied will undoubtedly depend on what the Communists do and what the American people think about it.

In the highest levels of the Defense and State Departments it is recognized, officials privately concede, that popular indignation could force the United States in some circumstances to take action which would either contradict or diverge from its present policy.

A clear indication of the administration's attitude came last night in a speech sent by Assistant Secretary of State John M. Allison to the Philadelphia Bulletin Forum at Philadelphia. It was delivered by his assistant, U. Alexis Johnson, who returned 10 days ago from talks with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and other top U. N. military men in Korea.

"It is our policy," Allison said, "to confine the conflict to Korea. We do not propose to widen the scope of the war. That has been our policy from the start. That remains our policy. It is up to the Communists. If they want to widen the conflict and engulf the world in a terrible world war, then they must be the ones to do it."

Truce talks at Panmunjom are deadlocked now over several issues. Allison and his closest associates as well as military leaders reportedly still believe the odds are at least even on the possibility of agreement on a truce.

They have been considering for many weeks, however, what the United States should do in event of a collapse of negotiations. It is known that consideration has been given to carrying the war directly against China. It is now apparent that the decision has been reached to avoid this possibility.

In reaching this decision the advice of military leaders that a big effort in the Far East would mean a weakening of America's air and other forces at home have been a decisive factor.

Policy-makers have envisioned three main circumstances of collapse of the truce negotiations:

1. The talks might simply break off with both sides holding to their present military positions — that is, avoiding a major ground offensive. In this circumstance the administration's present policy is that the United States should not act to enlarge the war.

2. The talks might break off with Continued on Page Two

Supplies Sent to Relieve Quake Victims

Tokyo, March 5 (AP) — American occupation forces and the Japanese government today rushed relief supplies to victims of an earthquake and tidal waves in snow-swept northern Japan.

Planes, trains, and boats carried blankets, medicine and food to stricken areas of sparsely settled Eastern Hokkaido Island and the more populous sections of North-eastern Honshu Island.

"Thousands of homeless suffered from bitter cold and driving snowstorms which followed Tuesday's earthquake."

The official U. S. Army estimate stood at 31 Japanese dead and 170 injured. Japanese police announced they have recovered 20 bodies. No Americans were injured.

Kyodo News Agency reported the quake left a fishing village submerged and pushed up a new 40-foot hill. Both were on Hokkaido, northernmost island of Japan.

A Kyodo reporter who flew over Kiritappu reported most of the 1,691 villagers were marooned atop their submerged homes. He said a rescue boat was on its way.

The news agency said the new hill appeared near the village of Niihappu.

Japanese government agencies reported in complete surveys showed the quake and 10-foot-high tidal waves caused this damage:

1. Railway tracks were twisted and snarled in places. One section of 500 yards of track was swallowed by the earth.

2. An uncounted number of fishing boats were sunk, 44 damaged and two piers smashed on North-eastern Honshu, main island of Japan.

3. Seven coal miners were killed Continued on Page Two

UMT Measure Appears to Be Dead Issue

Washington, March 5 (AP) — Bitterly debated universal military training appeared today to be a dead issue, for the next few months at least.

The House yesterday shelved an administration bill to start UMT. It voted 238-162 to send the measure back to committee, eliminating a dramatic and unusual session.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the Armed Services Committee, then killed off any immediate chance for reconsideration. He told newsmen his committee would not bring up any more UMT legislation during this session.

Sen. McFarland of Arizona, Democratic leader in the Senate, said that in view of the House action the Senate probably would not consider UMT before the end of the 82nd Congress.

But proponents insisted that UMT was not permanently dead.

"We'll start all over again in the 83rd Congress, after the election," Vinson said.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, another strong supporter, said in a statement that "it will be little short of a national tragedy" if the House action "means the death of UMT legislation."

Donald R. Wilson, national commander of the American Legion, commented: "I can imagine a large number of people are happy tonight and most of them are within the confines of the Soviet Union."

House members did not actually vote on the merits of the bill to establish compulsory six months' training for 18-year-olds, plus 7-12 years in the reserves.

Their vote merely postponed action by sending the measure back to committee.

The climactic roll call out across party lines. The motion to recommit the bill was supported by 155 Republicans, 81 Democrats; opposed by 131 Democrats, 30 Republicans and one Independent.

A freshman congressman, Rep. Brownson (R-Ind.), was credited with throwing a big monkey wrench into an administration machine, which had survived preliminary challenges in trying to push through the bill.

Brownson suggested an alternate plan of requiring military service of all physically fit high school students while they complete their last two years. This would be augmented by two summer encampments. Non-students would be required to serve.

When Machines Develop Moral They Will Have Reached a Point to Judge All Mankind

By HAL BOYLE

New York, March 5 (AP) — Some pessimists believe that as man builds better and better machines he himself will get worse and worse.

But a more optimistic view is that man may eventually invent machines that will rebel against him and create a more sensible world, just as a son often improves beyond his father.

Men have depended upon the machine since the first man leaned his weight on a stick used to lift aside a stone. Over the centuries man has helped his lot in life by making more and more complicated machinery. But he himself has failed to match the machine's ability to progress and grow. He is pretty much the same a r o g ent, vain bundle of hypocrisy he always was.

Today there are machines with the muscle of 1,000 men. There are machines with a more delicate touch than man. There are machines that can see through fog that fables his eyes, hear sounds too soft to stir his dull ears, machines that can travel where he can't and think 10 times as quickly as his slow mind — with less error.

The nice thing about the machine is it has taken over as many of man's virtues without being infected by his defects. Nobody has been able to build hypocrisy or hate into a machine.

No machine has ever showed a sense of gratitude either. But why should it? It treats its creator with a cold indifference and regards him more as a slave than a master. It will work for him, true, but only on its own terms — the laws of physical nature. And it insists on being paid. You know the old saying: "You can't get more energy out of a machine than goes into it."

Actually the machine, which does so many things better than man, is beginning to criticize its maker. Striving with the time clock, more and more machines are being used to sit in judgement upon more and more men, upbraiding them for their mistakes of hand, eye and mind.

Some robot plane will be sent up to shoot down an enemy robot plane. But Roscoe, the electric pilot, will say:

"Why should I knock my metal buddy out of the sky? To hell with war. I've always wanted to write a sonnet. I think I will right now."

That will signal the end of the age of man and the dawn of the true machine age. For men are so dependent upon machines they must do what the machines decide. It's a machine-world.

It isn't such a bad future. Men at least will know general peace for the first time in their history as they bow to their new metal ethical leaders. Gears and wheels will grind out well-oiled justice to all.

Men will go on dying in time like cattle, as they always have, but the machines will live happily ever after, blissfully composing lyrics for the music of the spheres and contentedly turning out the world's supply of justice.

Committee Votes Out Revenue Plan; Probers Refused McGrath Data

Justice Dept. Will Not Comply With Request

Washington, March 5 (AP) — The Justice Department refused today to give detailed information on the handling of government prosecutions to a congressional committee investigating Attorney General J. Howard McGrath's conduct of his office.

A House Judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Chaff (D-Ky.) on Feb. 22 wrote to McGrath, asking him to list all cases referred to his department for action during the last six years in which action was declined, the cases were returned to the originating department, or are now pending in the Justice Department.

The information was asked as part of an investigation of the way McGrath has run the Justice Department.

Joseph C. Duggan, assistant attorney general acting for McGrath, replied today that his blanket request was entirely outside the scope of the resolution adopted by the whole House Judiciary Committee authorizing the investigation.

Duggan said the resolution limited the projected inquiry "to specific allegations and complaints based upon credible evidence, and not mere suspicion and rumor."

Furthermore, Duggan said, the project would involve examination of a half million cases which would "impose an intolerable burden upon this department" and paralyze its current duties.

"In any event," his letter said, "we could not comply with any such request."

Gambling Tag Sent Back by Hope Man

Little Rock, March 5 (AP) — A Hope, Ark., cafe owner who recently purchased a federal gambling stamp, wants to trade it in to the Internal Revenue office here.

Robert E. Carroll, whose Diamond Cafe was raided by state officers Friday, returned his stamp yesterday with the following comment:

"I am sending in my waging stamp for cancellation. If there is any refund, please send it to me. See that this gets in the newspaper too, please."

Carroll is scheduled to appear before the Hempstead County Grand Jury which will meet Monday, March 10, along with names appearing on an alleged list which officers seized during the raid on his establishment.

Both the grand and petit juries will meet Monday as the regular March term of Circuit Court will be held by Judge C. R. Huie.

Two Women Die in Montreal Fire

Montreal, March 5 (AP) — A 3-alarm fire destroyed a building housing the Montreal repertory theater early today and took the lives of two women.

Firemen saved the body of Mrs. George Perkins, 30, was found at the bottom of the stairs leading out of the building. They discovered the body of another woman in the rubble of the building. She was not identified.

Dr. Barrow to Leave for New Home at Marvel

Dr. John H. Barrow, connected with Branch General Hospital here for the past year, will leave Thursday with his family to Marvel, Arkansas where he will practice medicine. Marvel is in Phillips county, near Helena.

Dr. Barrow graduated from the University of Arkansas school of medicine and interned a year at Tripler General Hospital in Honolulu, the largest hospital in the Pacific area.

He joined the staff of Branch Hospital here last year and has practiced medicine there ever since.

A native of Hempstead, Dr. Barrow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Barrow, Sr. He has two sons, John Harley and David Christopher. Dr. Barrow indicated that he regretted leaving his home county but the opportunities offered in his new location were too good to turn down.

Migs Surprised and Five Are Shot Down

Seoul, Korea, March 5 (AP) — American airplanes surprised a flight of Communist MIG-15 jets today and shot down at least five near the Yalu river.

Another MIG was listed as probably destroyed.

The wild 30-minute morning battle was touched off when 28 F-86 Sabre jets pounced on a flight of 70 MIGs as the Reds came out of their Manchurian sanctuary.

"We caught them by surprise and bounced the whole formation" an Air Force officer said.

It was the biggest bag of Red jets since Jan. 25, when Sabre pilots destroyed 10.

Another MIG crashed behind the Manchurian border without a shot being fired at it. Two Allied pilots said the plane was stunting when it suddenly went into a tight spin and roared to the ground.

Fighting on the battle front continued light, but the Reds stepped up their artillery and mortar fire in some sections Tuesday.

The Communists threw nearly 1,500 rounds at an Allied position north of the Punchbowl on the Eastern front. The bombardment was near the Red-held "Lucky the Cook's Castle," a strong point from which the Reds have been blasting for several weeks.

The U. S. Eighth Army communiqué reported only light patrols and probes across the front. Temperatures ranged from 13 to 33 degrees.

Mrs. McDade, 68, Dies at Home Near Laneburg

Mrs. Louella McDade, aged 68, a resident of Nevada county, died Monday night at her home near Laneburg.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Grace Johnson of Prescott, 8, six sons, Ernest, Jesse, Clyde, Fred and Watson McDade, all of near Prescott and Raymond Ferris McDade of Fort Lee, Va.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at Sweet Home Church, near Bleyins.

Final Decision on Truman Plan Up to Senate

Washington, March 5 (AP) — The Senate Expenditures Committee today disapproved President Truman's plan to reorganize the Internal Revenue Bureau. The vote was 7 to 5.

The resolution of disapproval now goes to the Senate floor where the final decision will rest. Majority Leader McFarland (D-Ariz.) has said it will be taken up there next Tuesday.

The committee, which has held four weeks of hearings on the plan, discussed it behind closed doors for an hour before voting. Only yesterday President Truman made a new and urgent plea for approval.

The vote was taken on a resolution of disapproval introduced by Senators George (D-Ga.) and Millican (R-Colo.).

Supporting the resolution were two Democrats, Senators McClellan (Ark.), chairman of the committee, and Hoyer (N.C.), and five Republicans — Senators McCarthy (Wis.), Mundt (SD), Scherer (Pa.), (Kan.), Dworshak (Idaho) and Dixon (Calif.).

Opposing it were four Democrats, Senators O'Connor (Mo.), Humphrey (Minn.), McNamara (Okla.) and Moody (Mich.), and one Republican, the Senate's only woman member, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

McClellan had announced before the committee met that no matter which way it voted, the resolution of disapproval would be submitted to the Senate.

The House has approved the Truman plan for reorganizing the scandal-ridden tax bureau, and it will go into effect automatically March 14 unless 40 Senators vote before then to reject it.

Opponents of the plan say they are certain a majority of the Senators voting will be against it, but that they are not so sure of getting 40 adverse votes. The law governing reorganization plans requires a Continued on Page Two

Ernest A. Porter New Commander of Nat'l Guard

First Lt. Ernest A. Porter, 4004 time resident of this city who has lived in the local National Guard unit as a private on November 1, 1947, was appointed Commanding Officer of Company "A," 153rd Infantry, Arkansas National Guard on February 1, 1952 by the Adjutant General of Arkansas.

Lt. Porter qualified for his final commission on the basis of service during World War I, participating in the American Expeditionary Force in France, Rhineland, and Central Europe. Campaigns from October 1918 to May 1919 as a weapons sergeant.

Lt. Porter extends his salute to young men and veterans of this section to enlist in the National Guard unit. Men who are not yet 18 must be between the ages of 18 and 19 to be eligible. Men who are on enlistment with the unit they held at the time of discharge up to age 35 may reenlist in some cases. A vote of the members of the first three regiments of the National Guard is required for a longer duty assignment. Men who are qualified for promotion to Second Lieutenant will be promoted.

The advantages of the National Guard are many. Men can learn, acquire experience, and become an officer, social and athletic, and receive excellent training for retirement.

Brazil Train Wreck Toll Feared 102

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, March 5 (AP) — Rescue workers dug today in the splintered debris of a freight train wreck, fearing the toll of 102 dead will rise higher in Brazil's worst railroad disaster.

About 20 were injured. The wreck occurred yesterday on a bridge arching the flooded Parana River as two trains approached each other on the double track at a combined speed of 100 miles an hour.

Three wooden coaches of one passenger train jumped the rails and swung across the path of a speeding steel-bodied commuter train. The electric locomotive of the commuter train smashed the coaches into kindling.

Some bodies fell into the river, swollen by recent rains. Others dangled from the bridge or lay in the smashed wreckage.

Jose Santos, a laborer going to work on the commuter train, said from his seat in the second car the collision looked "like opening a gasoline can."

Drag River for Body of Youth

Springdale, March 5 (AP) — Searchers continued to drag White River today for the body of a 12-year-old boy, missing from his home here since Feb. 26.

Previously, officers had believed that Earl Dean Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Frank Smith, had run away from home.

But, State Trooper Leon Clinton said yesterday that a friend of the boy told him that young Smith disappeared in the river when it boated in which they were riding sank.

Clinton said Dean Rogers, 12, told him that he and Smith played on Highway 68, obtained the boat and started floating down the river.

The boy hit a log about two and a half miles downstream and sank. Rogers said he swam to shore, but that Smith never appeared.

British to Federate African Territories

London, March 5 (AP) — A British proposal to federate three British African territories — Nyasaland and Northern and Southern Rhodesia — was approved in the House of Commons last night. 260 to 238. A drafting meeting will be held next month to prepare the plan.

Among birds now extinct are the passenger pigeon, the great auk and the Labrador duck.

Administration

A Communist offensive aimed at driving the United Nations forces out of their present entrenched positions. Gen. Ridgway is reported to be confident that his position is so strong that he could smash such an offensive and might thereby start the flood of peace more earnestly. Even in the face of a ground offensive, the administration would take the line that the war should be confined to Korea, under present policy.

3. The talks might collapse under a terrific drive by the Reds making a full-out use of their air as well as land power. In that event a policy which has been on the United Nations books in Korea for a year would probably be put into effect. It provides that, should Communist air attacks threaten the security of the United Nations forces, the United Nations may strike back at the launching bases. Those bases are on Chinese territory, north of the Yalu River.

4. Flood waves washed away 277 houses in Hamanaka village on Hokkaido, leaving 1,600 persons homeless. Reports from other villages placed the total number of destroyed homes at around 2,500.

Associated Press reporters flew over Kushiro, largest city on Hokkaido suffering from the quake, and reported few signs of damage.

The harbor wall appeared to have been battered by the seas. The city appeared to be returning to normal.

Noboru Saito, national rural police chief, credited Japan's tidal wave alert system with holding down casualties.

The key provision of the plan would abolish the jobs of the politically-appointed collectors of internal revenue. Regional officials under Civil Service would be substituted.

Seven collectors have been ousted in the wake of recent investigations of tax irregularities.

The Internal Revenue Bureau probe moved toward potentially explosive hearings on the New York Internal Revenue setup despite backstage differences.

Chairman King (D-Calif.) called his Ways and Means investigating subcommittee into closed session today to set a date for the hearings.

King also expected to propose a "peace plan" to settle sharp committee differences with the Treasury and Justice Departments over use of the committee's closely-guarded files.

Investigators rushed their top-secret records from New York to Washington last month to keep them out of the hands of a New York grand jury convened suddenly by the Justice Department.

Attorney General McGrath's grand jury move, coming while the committee was conducting hearings in San Francisco, drew charges of double-cross and conspiracy from irate committee members.

King said Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, by prompting the grand jury action while the committee was out of town, had violated an agreement not to interfere with the investigation of the New York Internal Revenue offices.

Snyder since has unsuccessfully sought to gain access to the files. King proposed to give Internal Revenue agents and the New York grand jury free access, but with the stipulation that the files not be removed from the committee's New York staff office.

SYNAGOGUE GETS A "GRAVEN IMAGE" — A Jewish congregation in Chicago has defied a centuries-old tradition by erecting a figurative sculpture of an outer wall of its modern synagogue in suburban River Forest, Ill. Some Jewish ecclesiastics believe such figures defy the commandment against worship of graven images. However, sculptor Milton Horn defends his work as being in the true tradition of the Hebrew religion. The work shows a winged figure with "flame-like head and four all-seeing eyes" holding aloft the tables of commandments and trampling the earth-bound behemoth.

Electoral Group May Pick President

Washington, March 5 (AP) — The possibility that the Electoral College might actually select the next president and vice president through "a little horse trading" was raised today by Senator Mundt (R-SD).

Clubs

Shower Springs

Mrs. Ari Fincher was hostess to the Shower Springs Home Demonstration Club on February 26. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Mrs. Charles Beck in the absence of the president, Mrs. Russell.

The devotional was read by Mrs. Ari Fincher followed by prayer by Mrs. Troy Greenlee. The song of the month, "My Wild Irish Rose" was sung by the group. There were eight members, one new member, Mrs. F. G. Mears and a visitor, Mrs. Bud Gentry.

The health leader, Mrs. Ari Fincher, gave a talk on general health of the family and cancer control. A round table discussion on correct feeding of the family followed. A quilt that was ready for quilting was donated to the club by Mrs. L. H. Byrd which will be quilted at a later date and sold for funds for the club. Mrs. L. H. Byrd received a gift from her secret pal.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and also cake baked by Mrs. Joe England was sold by the piece to each member. A prize in the cake was won by Mrs. George Waldon who will furnish the next cake. The meeting was adjourned to meet March 25 at the home of Mrs. Troy Greenlee with Mrs. Shields as co-hostess.

Blevins

The Blevins Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. C. F. Goodlet with Mrs. Clyde Snelgrove as co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president and the song of the month was sung by all. Roll call was answered with each member telling "How I Can Improve the Health of My Family."

Mrs. Bud Gorham gave a report on the club's membership drive. The health and safety leader was in charge and read some interesting facts on cancer and passed out some literature.

Mrs. Blackwood gave a demonstration on how to make a wrist pin cushion and also how to make nylon corsages.

The club voted to have their project for the coming year improving the park.

The recreation leaders directed some enjoyable games.

Refreshments were served to 22 members, 1 new member, Mrs. W. T. Taylor, 3 visitors and Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, Home Demonstration Agent.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. W. D. Gorham in March.

REGAN WEDS

North Hollywood, Calif., March 5 (AP) — Ronald Regan and Nancy Davis are honeymooning today.

The film couple was married yesterday at the Little Brown Church in the Valley. Afterwards they announced they were driving to Phoenix, Ariz., to join the bride's parents.

Sewing Is Important HD Project

HD means Home Demonstration. In 1931 Hempstead County Home Demonstration Club members voted to have a five year course in sewing, with emphasis being on tailoring.

Mrs. Sue Marshall, extension clothing specialist, conducts a sewing and tailoring class semi-annually, with each sewing leader present. These leaders give the same lesson to their respective clubs. Materials and equipment needed and how to make at home much of the equipment, to give tailored garments a professional look, is carefully explained in detail while actual construction is watched and duplicated by each sewing leader. The fitting of collars, yokes and sleeves, putting linings in jackets and coats, choosing and alternating patterns for each individual, and buying the right type of material is carefully explained and demonstrated by Mrs. Marshall. This phase of Home Demonstration club work enables the homemaker to dress herself and her family with better clothing and at the same time using less money.

In 1950 and 51 a county dress revue has been held in May at the Hope City Hall. Any Home Demonstration club member may enter garments she has made in any or all the three divisions, house dresses, Sunday dress, and suits. These garments are carefully checked for workmanship by a non-resident of Hempstead County, then the garments are modeled by their makers and judged for fit, style, and proper accessories. Three awards are given in each division and reasons for winning, by the judge. This year there will be two identical revues, one for previous winners and the other for non-winners. The only requirement for membership in a Home Demonstration Club is interest. If you are interested see any Home Demonstration Club member or contact Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, Hempstead County Home Demonstration Agent, at the courthouse.

Arkansas GI Is Charged With Rape

Montgomery, Ala., March 5 (AP) — Staff Sergeant George F. Hill, 21, Camp Rucker, Ala., soldier, was summoned today for trial on a charge of raping a 64-year-old woman.

Hill, of Stuttgart, Ark., was indicted by the County Grand Jury last month. He was accused of raping an Easton, Pa., woman who was here to visit a son stationed at Maxwell Air Force Base.

He pleaded innocent at a preliminary hearing. A maximum penalty for rape under Alabama law is death.

Acheson Goes Against Committee

Washington, March 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today he reversed the finding by a State Department board that career diplomat Oliver Edmund Clubb was a security risk.

Acheson told a news conference he took full personal responsibility for the action, which permitted Clubb to retire from the foreign service on a pension.

Clubb resigned the same day, Feb. 11, that the department announced he had been cleared.

Acheson stressed Clubb was cleared of any reasonable doubt of his loyalty, even though the board had found him to be a security risk.

Clubb is director of Chinese affairs in the department. He said he retired from his $12,400 job because the loyalty-security investigation had "seriously damaged" his future career prospects.

Two Republican senators helped bring to light Acheson's action in reversing the department board. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) had asked Owen Lattimore, a Senate

DOROTHY DIX FootLoose Family

Dear Miss Dix: Several years ago, due to my husband's ill health we closed our home here and went west with our two boys. After a few months, my husband was able to work again. I also worked and we made out so well we were able to clear our home of all debt.

Although it is no longer necessary for us to do so, we still like to go west for the winter months and come back here for the summer. However, our sons have been resentful the last couple of years when, as they say, "we pack up and go on the move from one school to another." We feel they are fortunate. This year they have flatly refused to go, and threaten to leave home if we move again. One is 16, the other 17. Should we consider our sons' wishes or live our own lives as we wish?

MRS. F. B. M.
Answer: As I have pointed out often before, by the very act of becoming parents, we advocate the right to "live our own lives." The welfare of the child becomes the first responsibility of the father and mother, and must remain so until the youngsters are able to be on their own. You think your sons are fortunate in your way of living because it happens to be the way you prefer; unfortunately those dependent upon us do not always have the same attitudes.

Pine Bluff Strike Apparently Over

Pine Bluff, March 5 (AP)—A strike that has tied up construction work on a secret military project adjoining the Pine Bluff Arsenal apparently is over.

Col. Hans W. Holmer, U. S. district engineer, said yesterday in Little Rock that striking common laborers voted, 247-3, to return to their jobs, ending a 6-day walkout.

The 250 men voting were from among 1,500 members of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Hod Carriers and Common Laborers who struck last Wednesday for higher wages and the reinstatement of a discharged employee.

About 2,000 skilled craftsmen honored the picket line set up by the laborers.

Col. Holmer said he was informed that the laborers would proceed with efforts to get a wage increase by application to the Federal Wage Stabilization Board.

Their current pay scale is $7 1/2 cents an hour. They want $1 an hour.

Committee witness last week whether he knew that Acheson had reversed the board. Lattimore said he did not know this. Later, Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Acheson had reversed the board, so Clubb could retire on a pension.

Many youngsters would consider the annual hedges a very fortunate circumstance, in fact, children who do not traveling at all would be pop-eyed with envy at your family's chance to see the country.

Boys Want Roots

As it happens, you have acquired two boys with more stable natures than your own. They apparently like to have established roots. Your problem is not an insoluble one and I don't think you should be so upset over it. The boys are of high school age, an era in life when one is most anxious to conform to contemporary standards, be one of the "gang" and have permanent friendships. In fact, this is usually the time when lifelong friendships are established. Since presumably they are attending high school, it is hard to break the school year in the middle and set off to parts unknown. When they return in the summer, they'll be out of contact with school activities and all friendships must be made anew. Regardless of how you look at it, this is a difficult situation for youngsters to face.

Why not give up the winter trip for the next two or three years, until the boys finish high school? Since you and your husband are able to make a living anywhere, it will cause no financial hardship to any of you. When the boys reach college age, life will become simple for you again. With them settled at a boarding college you will be free to resume your travels.

In serious matters, as of health or finance, for instance, the children of a family must go or as necessarily dictates, but in a case involving schoolwork against parental whims, their welfare should come first.

Dear Miss Dix: I have a son 18 years old who was born out of wedlock. I am married now, and want to know if my husband should adopt him. My son's father is dead. People thought we were married but he was a bigamist. I gave the boy my father's name.

Answer: It will be a fine thing if your husband is willing to adopt your son. The boy will then have a legal name, and his legal status will be established.

Dear Miss Dix: After being married less than a year, I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown. I have never found happiness in marriage. Although my parents were against it I thought I could make a go of it, but it wasn't easy. My husband has no principles and we are completely unsheltered. We don't agree on anything. I wonder if I would at least find peace of mind by leaving him.

FLORENCE

Answer: Rather than staying with your husband until the nervous breakdown is an accomplished fact, it would be better to separate now. I hope you know what you want, however, before you do take so decisive a step. You seem to be rather a spoiled, willful young lady, and unless you learn to accept things with a little more give-and-take you have a hard life ahead. You opposed your parents' wishes to marry, now are disappointed with the marriage, and will undoubtedly be equally dissatisfied with a separation. Better seek advice from someone who knows you — and abide by it!

Communism Makes Strange Bedfellows

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 4 (AP) — The struggle against communism makes strange bedfellows for the United States. Indochina is a good example.

Even with American help the French in Indochina haven't been able to whip the Communist Vietnamese troops. And the Communists in turn haven't been able to win decisively even with help from Red China.

The fact is the French are doing badly. After six years of struggle against the Chi Minh's Vietnamese the French steadily are being pushed back.

In the past 21 months the United States has poured more than 500 million dollars in military aid to the French in Indochina. And the Chinese Communists have poured vast supplies southward to the Vietnamese.

This has been a steady drain on the United States and China, both of which could have used their military supplies elsewhere. It's been a steady drain on the French, too. It's kept 170,000 troops pinned down there who could otherwise be used in the defense of Western Europe. And the French losses in Indochina have spread discontent in France.

It's been their colony a long time, and they want to keep it that. Their record in Indochina has been shabby. They've treated it as a colony, exploiting it and its people. The democracy they practiced at home was something they didn't export to Indochina.

They assumed, and still seem, unable to get it through their heads, that the age of Western colonialism in Asia is finished. War II they were washed up and done in Indochina, and would have remained there if the British hadn't bailed them out by holding the line for them until France could get troops back in.

The French today have about as much right in Indochina as we'd have by trying to move in and take over Mexico, still. If they withdrew, or collapsed, all South East Asia would be open to communism.

That's why the Chinese Communists are giving the Vietnamese what help they can. And, for the opposite reason — to keep communism from taking over all Eastern Asia — the United States is helping the French.

As a result, the people of Indochina are caught between the two forces which have made their country a six-year battlefield. The struggle between the West and communism.

It's a power struggle in a small land. This is the coldblooded view of what's happening in Indochina, stripped of any fancy talk. It's a stark reminder in case we get more deeply involved. And we may.

Harry Allen, veteran Associated Press foreign correspondent, reported last night from Indochina that the people there think neither the French nor the Vietnamese can win without outside intervention.

He said, "The question uppermost in many minds is: Who is going to intervene first — the Red Chinese or the United Nations?"

The United States and China are both intervening with military supplies. The big intervention would be the sending of foreign troops.

Kefauver to Compete in Maryland

Annapolis, Md., March 4 (AP) — Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) will compete with an "uninstructed delegation" in the May primary for Maryland's 18 votes which might come in handy at the Democratic national convention next summer.

The name of the former chairman for the Senate Crime Investigating Committee was entered in the Democratic preferential primary midnight deadline last night. No Republicans entered.

Under terms of Maryland law, Democratic voters will have two choices in the preferential primary. They can force instructions upon delegates to vote for Kefauver at the national convention, or they can signify by their vote that the delegation is to go uninstructed.

'I Can Win' All Candidates Assert

By the Associated Press

The presidential campaign of the three top Republican hopefuls was attuned today to the theme, "I can win no matter what anybody says."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the most active Democratic candidate, pitched his speeches to much the same key.

The candidates aimed their political oratory at New Hampshire's voters, who hold the nation's first 1952 presidential preferential primary next Tuesday.

On the Republican side, former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign manager, Sen. Lodge of Massachusetts, already were on the scene. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was due Thursday.

Kefauver arrives today to drum up the Democratic vote.

Here are the latest happenings in the campaign camps:

1. Stassen predicted he would draw "considerable" of the would-be backers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in New Hampshire. He repeated what he has said often, that Taft and Eisenhower can't win because they cancel out one another.

2. Lodge said Eisenhower would be "a fighting campaigner" who will make every Truman bureaucrat and demagogue take out for the high hills.

3. Taft, in Wisconsin, said there is no basis for the charge that "Taft can't win." He promised organized labor a Republican administration would "perfect" a Taft-Hartley Law that would "meet all reasonable demands."

Democratic:

1. Kefauver told a Boston audience "a strong organization is out to get me" in the New Hampshire primary, but the final decision rests with the people and I am not for this support."

2. Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma said in a recorded San Diego speech that the Democrats were "never stronger" and the Republicans "never weaker or more divided." He accused "reckless Republican leaders" — he named Taft — of injuring the United Nations position in the Korean peace talks.

3. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), mentioned as a possible favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said in Washington there should be a showdown on the President's civil rights program with Southern Democrats backing Sen. Strom Thurmond.

"Inevitably" the next President will be a Republican if the Democrats

Arkansans See Possible River Aid

Washington, March 4 (AP) — An Arkansas delegation believes that President Truman is sympathetic to their request for 12 million dollars for work in the Arkansas River Basin.

The president was urged to support the appropriation yesterday by J. W. Hull of Russellville, president of the association and of Arkansas Tech.

Hull said the president gave the delegation a "very sympathetic hearing" and said he would discuss it with the budget director.

Puerto Rico Adopts Constitution

San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 4 (AP) — Puerto Rican voters overwhelmingly adopted a new constitution yesterday to give their 100-year-old island self-government as a "free commonwealth" associated with the United States.

Final returns in the ratification election, announced last night, gave 373,418 votes for the constitution, 22,473 against it.

The island has been a U. S. colony since the Spanish-American war. Congress gave it the power to elect its own president in 1947. It has already elected its legislature.

The new constitution must be ratified by the U. S. Congress, but approval is considered virtually certain.

The new constitution ends U. S. congressional power to repeal the island's laws, and removes the U. S. President's power to appoint judges and Supreme Court justices. It leaves open the way for Puerto Rico to become a state and permits landing of U. S. armed forces in case of invasion or rebellion.

Conference Set on Indian Bay Fund

Little Rock, March 4 (AP) — Pulaski Circuit Judge Guy Ausler has set March 13 as the date for a pre-trial conference on the Indian Bay Road fund litigation.

The suit is an outgrowth of the recent Arkansas Highway Audit Commission public hearings. It involves the collection of $2,961 from Monroe County citizens for improvement of the Indian Bay road.

Witnesses testified at the hearings that instead of the money going to the State Highway Department it wound up in Gov. McMath's 1950 political campaign fund.

Atty. Gen. Ike Murry filed the suit seeking to have the money deposited in the state treasury.

Murry named Henry Woods, McMath's executive secretary and campaign manager, and Arkansas Highway Commissioner Charles Adams of Hughes as defendants.

Turks Promise Cooperation to Eisenhower

Ankara, Turkey, March 5 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower left by air for Greece today with promises Turkey will expand her land, sea and air forces to support Eisenhower's North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces.

The NATO commander is on a trip to confer with military men in Greece and Turkey, who formally entered NATO as its 13th and 14th members at last month's Lisbon meeting of the pact's Council.

Eisenhower at his departure delighted Turks by speaking a greeting in their language.

"Merhaba Arkadaslar" (good morning, friends), he said to the military honor guard seeing him off at the airfield.

"Sagol" (may you live long), the troops replied in chorus.

Eisenhower learned this traditional Turkish Army greeting during his visit. The Turks said his accent was almost perfect.

Earlier Eisenhower told the Turks their 400,000-man armed forces and strategic position on Russia's southwestern border are a "great addition" to NATO strength.

The Turks told Eisenhower that the extent of their arms expansion in the next two years depends on the amount of military equipment sent to Turkey, although, they said, they intend to start producing some of their own munitions and war machines.

Funds to arm Turkey under the U. S. Mutual Security Act total more than 175 million dollars for the current year. The MSA is co-operating in the expansion of Turkish arms production plants. One of the projects is construction of an aircraft factory, already underway.

On his way from Ankara to Athens, Eisenhower scheduled a sight-seeing tour at Istanbul and a brief stop at Salonika, Greece. He is traveling with his wife and Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff of his NATO military headquarters in Paris, in his private plane, the "Columbine."

Fannie Hurst Attends Funeral Alone

New York, March 4 (AP) — Novelist Fannie Hurst goes as a solitary mourner today to the funeral of her husband, whose death ended a long marriage unsurpassed in fiction.

Her husband, 78-year-old Jacques S. Danielson, retired pianist-composer, died yesterday at his home.

Miss Hurst planned a funeral service with herself as the only person present. The body will be cremated.

The novelist, now 62, married Danielson in 1915. She announced the marriage five years later and told of its workings.

The two kept separate apartments, breakfast together twice a week. He telephoned her for appointments. On each wedding anniversary, they took a holiday together. She kept her own name.

Injured Captain Bringing Ship in

New York, March 4 (AP) — An injured sea captain bravely directed his storm-lashed freighter, the Rachel Jackson, towards New York today, expecting to reach here at about noon.

The Coast Guard reported that the 7,100-ton Liberty Ship was limping unescorted through choppy seas under its own power.

Mountainous waves hit the Rachel Jackson early Sunday about 350 miles southeast of New York City. Its captain, William R. Thomas, 58, of Philadelphia, suffered a compound fracture of the right ankle and other injuries when a wave smashed the starboard side of the ship's bridge.

A navy hospital corpsman from the Navy transport General Maurice Rose was aboard the Jackson to aid the captain. A doctor from the transport boarded the freighter for a short time yesterday and reported Thomas was in "good condition considering his injuries."

Heavy swells prevented the removal of Thomas to the General Rose.

No one else was hurt aboard the Jackson which was bound for Holland.

The Federal Crop Insurance premium that the farmer pays, represents a small addition to his investment of money and labor in producing a crop and with this addition the farmer protects what he invests against losses from the many unavoidable causes that can destroy or severely damage any farmer's crop. Federal Crop Insurance offers the farmer the kind of protection of his investment that has been a standard practice of businessmen for many years.

Any person with an interest in a cotton crop in Hempstead County at planting time may apply for the protection. Producers who apply now will have their application accepted and their Federal Crop Insurance Policy issued to them before they invest the money and labor which the policy protects unless, of course, they should be among the few that will be rejected in the interest of keeping the local program as sound as possible. Applications are being taken at Hope, Arkansas PMA Office.

Lion, Workers to Take Over Strike

El Dorado, March 4 (AP) — Officials of Lion Oil Company and the CIO Oil Workers International Union will meet March 6 for a discussion of a strike vote taken by the union last month.

The vote, taken by 800 union members at Lion's chemical plant here, supported their demands for a base pay raise of 25 cents an hour.

Some 340 CIO members at the Pan-Am Southern Corporation Refinery here also voted to strike. No meeting between Pan-Am and the union has been announced.

Little Rock, March 4 (AP) — The Paragould, Ark., chapter of Future Teachers of Arkansas has been cited for its outstanding community service.

The FTA chapter award was presented to Paragould last night, the highlight of the opening of the organization's sixth annual convention here.

Fifteen tradesmen received trophies as first place winners in individual contests. Certificates were presented to second and third place winners.

Facts truck owners should know about hauling bigger payloads

"With our new Dodge, the payload is high, the cost per mile low!"

... says MORRIS SAPIR

Dependable Furniture Company, Oakland, California

"After using Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks for eight years exclusively, I want to report that your new models are keeping me sold on Dodge.

"No vehicle we have ever seen can give our drivers more freedom in city traffic than our Dodge 1-ton truck. With our new Dodge, the payload is high, the cost per mile low. And our transportation is dependable."

HERE'S why you can carry more payload with Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks.

First, they have better weight distribution. This means bigger payload capacity is engineered into a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck. Many trucks carry too much weight on the rear axle, not enough on the front. But in a Dodge the right proportion is carried on each axle.

Besides better weight distribution, a shorter wheelbase provides easier turning and parking. Come in and try one of these easier-handling trucks. Get all the facts about hauling bigger payloads.

Carry more! In Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks, the engine is placed forward and the front axle back — for better distribution of the load. That's why you can carry bigger payloads — without overloading.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

There was a curtained recess behind the door. The young man motioned for Liddell to follow him, and the way through into the room beyond. At the far end of the room, the molding, which had been closed, was pushed open. They stepped into a narrow, dim passageway which closed the door behind them.

They moved close to the Chinese wall, and the way through the door came to a room where a number of Chinese were sitting on the floor. They looked up as Liddell and the young man came through and saw a flash of light. A door opened, and a man came out. He was a Chinese, and he looked at them with a questioning expression. Liddell stepped forward and spoke to him in Chinese. The man nodded and they followed him.

They followed him through a series of rooms, each with a different atmosphere. The first was a large room with a high ceiling and a large chandelier.
